25th January 2018

Dear Parents & Carers,

We are delighted to announce that Carew Academy will be celebrating their NSPCC National Number Day next Friday the 2nd February.

The NSPCC National Number Day is a fantastic hosted event to celebrate Number for young people and raise money towards a good cause. Join thousands of schools for a mega math-inspired fundraising day and raise money for the NSPCC. With new creative activities this year, it's math but not as you know it! Whether you dedicate a day or an hour to being a math maverick, every pound you raise counts towards our fight for every childhood.

On this day the school will be hosting a mufti day, with every £1 for a child who comes in with their own school uniform being donated to the NSPCC charity itself, a very worthy cause. As an extra incentive those pupils that come in with a maths themed piece of clothing will be celebrated and rewarded – this could range from anything from a stitched on maths operation sign (+, -, x, ÷) to a create your own t-shirt with a maths sum written on! please be as creative as you would like in celebrating Number and Maths in general. For those pupils who do not wish to come in in Mufti and pay the £1 then school uniform is expected.

Throughout all that week pupils will be studying Maths games and puzzles in their Maths lessons, practising their number operational skills and reasoning skills in figuring out maths sums and solutions, and discovering the links between different sums and methods of working. This will culminate in a class game on the final maths lesson of the week where all pupils will take part in a game/quiz of _____.

We look forward to celebrating and raising awareness for this important charity next week and will forward any pictures of your child taking part and showcasing their maths skills with the weekly emails home.

Kind regards,

Best wishes,
